Collection and Recording of Pupils' Ethnic Background

Everyone belongs to an ethnic group. We are required by the Department for Education to furnish them with information about the ethnic origin of our new pupils and the language they speak at home.

Schools have collected information on the ethnic background of their pupils since 1990. This is one element of data that schools must report as a statutory requirement to the Department for Education (DfE) through the Pupil Annual Schools' Census.

The information you provide will be used to compile statistics on the school careers and experiences of children from different backgrounds, to help ensure that all children have the opportunity to fulfil their potential. Ethnic monitoring can help schools, local authorities and government identify the needs of all pupils, whatever their ethnic background, and make sure they receive the support they need to achieve their full potential. Without effective ethnic monitoring on a local and national basis, the particular needs of any group could remain unknown. These statistics will not allow individual children to be identified publicly. It may be shared with other relevant professionals.

Information about your child's ethnic background will be passed on to any other school to which your child transfers to save you having to be asked for it again. You can ask to check your child's information at any time, and, if you wish, have the ethnic background changed or removed.
